An exceptional space.
An extraordinary undertaking.

This single family home in Lincoln Park consists of a main 3-story structure with two pavilions connected by glass loggias. We wired each pavilion to its own lower-level "home run", then connected both to a main equipment hub in the primary structure. Keypads and surface mounted iPads were programmed for simplified control of the entire house including lighting, audio/video, motorized shades, climate, security and special features such as fire pit operation.

Full-service, from start to finish.

We offer consultation, design, installation, and programming for both residential and commercial projects. We specialize in integrating innovative technologies into elegant, coherent solutions based on each client's specific needs.

Through every step of the process, we're there with you. Our job isn't finished just because your system is in. We're there to provide calibration, training, and system monitoring, as well as service and upgrades. As technologies and functionalities evolve, we remain committed to providing the highest quality, most cutting-edge solutions available.

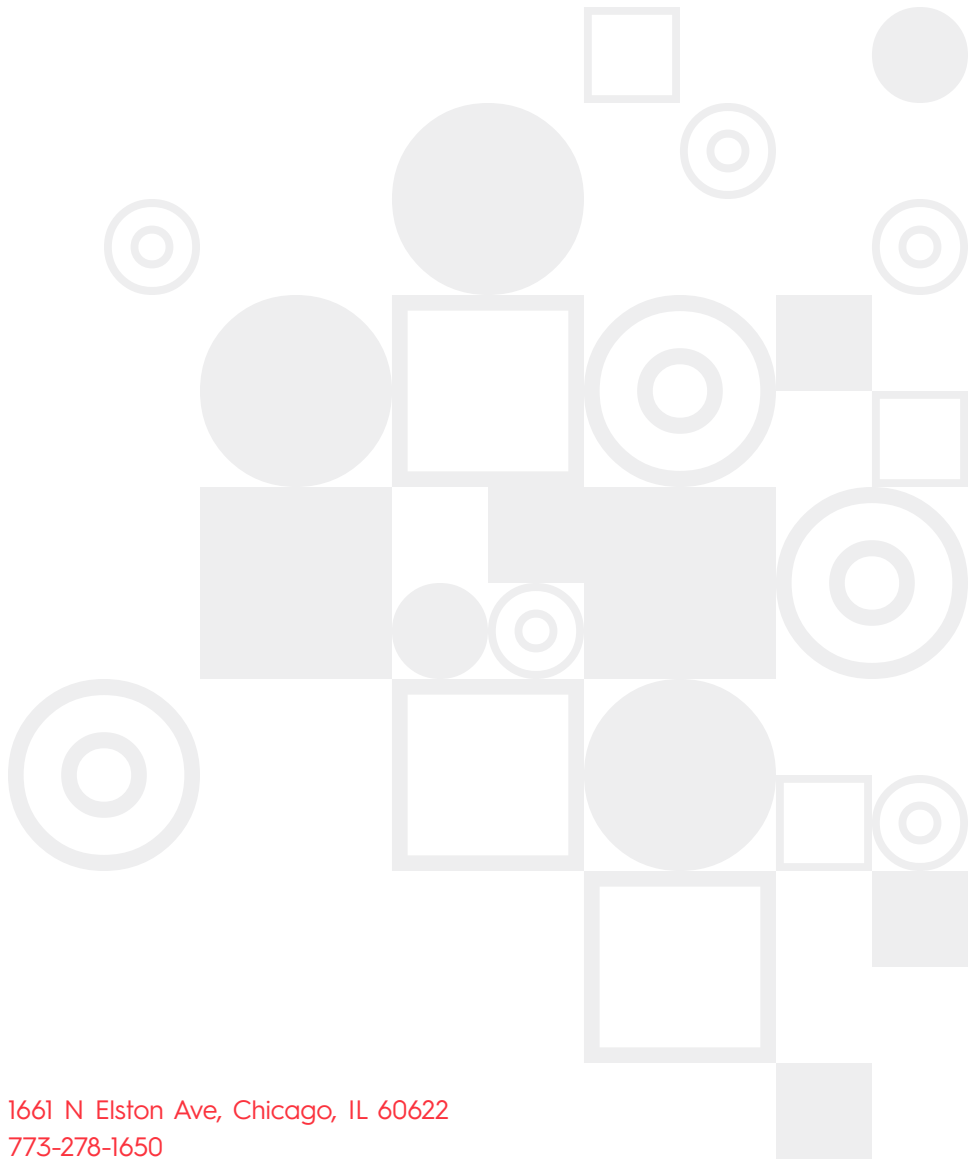

Systems that make the most of every space.

Residential or commercial, living room or lobby, home theater or conference room, we design systems that are innovative and intuitive, enhancing and elevating your space in ways big and small.

In the home, we integrate your systems, putting convenience, security, and entertainment at your fingertips. For corporate business, government, healthcare, education, hospitality, entertainment, and faith-based markets, we're here to help you select and implement the latest technologies specifically designed to maximize the efficiency, productivity, and profitability of your organization.
